

What is claimed is:

1. A light emitting device in which a light emitting layer is composed of a material containing a polymer;
wherein the light emitting layer is formed by electrophotography.

2. A light emitting device in which a light emitting layer is composed of a material containing a polymer;
wherein the light emitting layer is formed by a thermal transfer or sublimation method.